You can directly run my program.

I try to build a beautiful user interface. I use a lot of states so that I can use the animation when it transforming from one state to another. But I also made it clean and easy to understand for new users. I shows the weather icon and temperature obviously, because it my program's mainly function. And there are also some buttons to open the additional windows about image and news. I also use a window to contain the information about the zip code, city, update time and so on, to inform the user what he is doing.
